WORKSHOP | Details

On October 10th 2019 (Thursday) from 1:30 to 5:00 pm we want to welcome international students and PhD-candidates during the orientation week to our workshop “Intercultural Basics for Studies and Research in Germany”.

For a successful time at the University of Rostock you do not only need language and subject knowledge but also intercultural skills.

On this afternoon, we want to work together on gaining insights into strategies for dealing with the German academic system. Scientific culture, communication with students and teachers, challenges and expectations ... we will answer your questions and discuss your experience, wishes and ideas for studying at the University of Rostock and, of course, will enjoy a typical German “Kaffeetrinken”! The workshop will be held in English.
